Ten years across savings-led livelihoods, banking and parliamentary oversight

> Making sure public money and financial services reach the people they are meant for, from savings circles in Mathare to the committee rooms of Parliament.

BIOGRAPHY

Bevaline N. Mosoti is a Kenyan financial inclusion and public policy professional whose work connects community savings groups, formal finance and parliamentary oversight. Since 2021 she has served as a Parliamentary Research Officer and Policy Analyst at the Parliament of Kenya, preparing more than 200 research briefs, committee reports and policy papers. As Lead Research Officer for the Special Funds Accounts Committee, she analyses Auditor-General reports on funds such as the Hustler, Uwezo and Youth Enterprise Development Funds, and she contributed to drafting Chapters Three and Four of Parliament's Gender Responsive and Inclusive Budgeting Guidelines.

From 2014 to 2020 she established and led the Savings for Life programme at Mathare Community Outreach, where partnerships with Postbank and Movert Technologies helped 100 savings groups open bank accounts. She also advised Bright Hope International's savings-group programmes in Uganda and shared practice at regional conferences in Zambia and Rwanda.
